Autism Therapy

Puzzles - Unlocking Minds Piece by Piece

Therapists choose puzzle types—such as jigsaws, spatial puzzles, or digital ones—based on each individual's needs, using them to encourage growth, engagement, and meaningful connection.

What It Helps

Picture book reading

Picture book reading therapy helps children with autism develop language, emotions, and social skills through visual stories.

Visuals	make language easier to understand
Stories	teach emotions and relationships
Routine Reading	gives comfort and focus
Interactive Activity	takes role-play and questions build engagement

Therapists use repetition, joint attention, and personalized books to support learning and communication.

Counting & Number Picture Cards

Counting and number picture card therapy helps children with autism develop math, language, and motor skills through structured visual learning.

How to get

Counting& Recognition	Match numbers with pictures to understand quantity
Visual Learning	Use images to support focus and comprehension
Language Practice	Say numbers and objects aloud
Fine Motor Skills	Sort and arrange cards to improve coordination
Consistency	Predictable routines build confidence and attention

This method works well because it combines visual aids and hands-on play, making learning engaging and adaptable to each child's needs.

Stacking Blocks

Stacking block therapy helps children with autism develop motor, cognitive, and social skills through structured play.

What to get

Fine Motor Skills	Improves coordination and control
Spatial Learning	Builds understanding of size and shape
Social Skills	Encourages sharing and turn-taking
Language Development	Teaches words like "on top" or "next."
Problem Solving	Promotes flexibility and persistence

Therapists use modeling, structured play, and sensory activities to make learning calm, engaging, and goal-focused.

Lorne & Evelyn Johnson Fund
Held at the South Sask Community Foundation

Reach Autism gratefully acknowledges the financial support of The Lorne and Evelyn Johnson Foundation, a private foundation serving the people of South Saskatchewan. The foundation was established by the late Lorne and Evelyn Johnson to respond to the changing needs and opportunities of the community and provides grants to eligible charitable organizations in culture, health, education, environment, recreation, and social sectors.

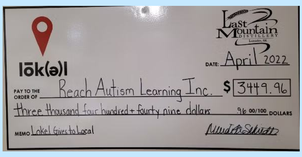
The funds we have received have been an amazing gift to our non-profit family. We have already seen an increase in our client that we are helping. The funds are being used for various programs that will benefit both the Autistic child and their family

Thank you,
Reach Autism Learning

Last Mountain Distillery
Lumsden, SK

Reach Autism would like to recognize Last Mountain Distillery for their generous donation and support. See below the Mission that they share with Saskatchewan:
At Last Mountain Distillery our mission is to share Saskatchewan Spirit with the world. One of the most amazing things about Saskatchewan people and their spirit is their generosity. You go to someone's house and somehow you never leave empty handed. We give and we give and that's what our lok(e)l brand is all about.

We are thrilled to help Reach with your mission to provide educational services, that allow autistic children to experience success, as the recipient for our lok(e)l supports local program for the month of April 2022. We are very pleased to present you with the enclosed cheque:



100 REGINA MEN

Reach Autism would like to recognize 100 Men Regina for their generous donation and support. See below the Mission that they share with Regina:
If you are a guy who cares about your community...

If you want to be part of a powerful group of men that is committed to make a BIG impact....

If you want to mix and mingle with the community leaders of today and tomorrow...

If you want to learn more about the amazing work our local charities do...

If you want 100% of your donation to go directly to a local charity.....

then maybe you care too.

We are men of all stripes and walks of life. We are stay at home fathers, white collar business men, blue collar tradesmen, farmers, business owners, and the list goes on. Most importantly, we are all men who care.

Our understanding is that the concept for 100 Men Who Care was born in Halifax a few years ago and was fashioned after a group called 100 Women Who Care. We're are a non-organization. We are not registered; we have no directors, officers or treasurer; we have no bank account because we don't collect, spend or donate anything – it's our members who make the donations. The group and its events are run on a budget of zero by a core team of big-hearted volunteers and with the assistance of some very generous sponsors.

Our Valued Fundraiser Sponsors

Affinity Credit Union

We are proud to call Affinity Credit Union, one of our valued sponsors. Affinity has supplied us funding, which we used for purchasing new educational, and learning programs. These new additions will be essential tools for helping the Autistic children to grow and learn. Thank you and bless you Affinity Credit Union.

We are so grateful to these sponsors who have generously donated various items for our Autism fundraising events. Each of these sponsors have helped us to raise our funds, so that we can reach out and help the autistic children to learn and grow.

We wouldn't be here without your support!

Our Mission

At Reach, our mission is simple: we are here to reach families and children living with autism. We provide educational services that allow autistic children to experience learning success. We offer practical support for parents—guiding them through the challenges of raising a child with autism. But more than that, we provide hope. We show parents that their children are capable of learning, and that they can achieve amazing things, no matter what their challenges may look like.

Overcoming fears

As we are driving out to Pasqua Lake, I was discussing with Andrew about snowshoeing on the lake. Of course, he was refusing and afraid. I don't think he gets it, that the lake is frozen and is safe to go on it. I am thinking he couldn't comprehend it totally. Even though he could see all the cars, the ice fishing shacks and the people on the lake, he is still not sure.
He is telling me, that I'm not going on the lake and refusing. I was a little bit upset because I really wanted to go on the lake. When we arrived at my sisters and got dressed for snowshoeing, he heads out towards the road. My thoughts were that I will follow him for a while and then later I'll go on the lake myself, but to my surprise, once we got up the hill, he starts to go down towards the lake in between some houses. To my shock he goes on the lake only near the edge though, which was an accomplishment. Way to go Andrew!

First time Driving a Snowmobile

Andrew's first time driving a snowmobile
After Andrew overcame his fear of snowshoeing on the lake, he was getting adventurous. His uncle brought out his snowmobile and of course, Andrew was so excited. We started out first with him riding double, as his dad drove the snowmobile.
Of course, I could tell he wanted to drive it, so we asked him if he would you like to drive it. With great excitement, he replied "of course", so we let him drive the snowmobile all by himself. He totally forgot about the fears of the lake and proceeded with going right across the lake and all over. He was beaming with excitement.
Wow, victory over fear! And of course, now wants to purchase a snowmobile. So very proud of you Andrew, overcoming your fears.
